The Board of Commissioners of the County of Chester

Recognizes

Family Promise of Southern Chester County

on the occasion of the grand opening of its Family Promise Resource Center.

Established in early 2015, Family Promise of Southern Chester County is committed to achieving lasting self-sufficiency and stability for families in the Oxford, Avon Grove, Kennett Consolidated and Unionville-Chadds Ford school districts who are experiencing homelessness. Through a network of church leaders, congregations, volunteers and neighbors, Family Promise is seeking to improve the lives of hundreds of school-age children and their families by providing overnight lodging, meals, transportation and the Resource Center where guests will find housing, jobs and other services.

The Board of Commissioners, County of Chester, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania thanks the board members, staff and the many volunteers who identified a need in the southern Chester County community, and responded to that need with a commitment to address family homelessness through prayer, conversation, donations, energy and hands-on work.
